DONATING UNWANTED LARGE ITEMS

This information is provided here in the hopes of keeping usable items out of our landfills. 😊
Please consider the overall condition of the item. If the item still has some life left in it and it's in good shape, it can be donated. If you are able to deliver the piece of furniture, any of the following charities will likely accept the donation. (Goodwill no longer accepts furniture) Some of these charities even offer a pick-up service. So please try calling the following charities/visiting their websites to see if they pick up furniture or if they know of a group that does.

Also please consider listing the item(s) on Facebook Marketplace or some similar site. If you list an item as FREE, you will typically have multiple interested people. Then they just come pick up the item.
